DISCUSSION: The Director, California Service Center, approved the preference visa petition. Subsequently, after first issuing a notice of intent to revoke the approval of the petition (NOIR), the director revoked the approval of the Immigrant Petition by Alien Entrepreneur (Form I-526). On April 17, 2012, the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) dismissed the petitioner's appeal, finding that he did not meet the eligibility requirements necessary to qualify for the preference visa petition, and that he willfully misrepresented a material fact. The matter is now before the AAO on a motion to reopen. The motion will be granted, the previous decision of the AAO will be affirmed and the petition will be denied with a formal finding of misrepresentation.

I. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On the Form I-526 petition, the petitioner indicated that the petition is based on an investment in New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC, a new commercial enterprise (NCE). The NCE is a joint venture that the petitioner and CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc. own. In his NOIR, the director advised the petitioner that United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) records indicated that the address for New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC – 406 Main Street in Johnstown, Pennsylvania – is the same address listed on two other Form I-526 petitions filed by unrelated investors claiming to invest in two separate joint ventures: Digital Tech Solutions, LLC; and IT Solutions and Services, LLC. The director further advised the petitioner that during a September 9, 2010 site visit, a USCIS officer could not confirm that New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC; any other joint ventures or CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc. occupied or leased more than 2,000 square feet on the 4th floor of the building, contrary to the claimed 11,044 square feet of office space referenced in the sublease between TC Ventures V, LLC and New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC. Ultimately, the director revoked the approval of the petition, finding that the petitioner had not demonstrated an at-risk investment or that the NCE had created or would create the necessary employment. The director entered a “finding of fraud” based on the petitioner's submission of a false sublease. The director also concluded that the petitioner had misrepresented that New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC had employed individuals, who were in fact employed by CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc. and noted that the Forms I-9s, Employment Eligibility Verifications, for New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC appeared to have been altered.

Similarly, in its July 22, 2011 notice of intent to dismiss the appeal with a finding of material misrepresentation (NOID), the AAO advised the petitioner that TC Ventures V, LLC was in fact the listed business on a fourth Form I-526 petition claiming job creation on the 4th floor of 406 Main Street. The record of proceeding for TC Ventures V, LLC contains the original lease between TC Ventures V, LLC and Major Builder's Inc. (in care of John Hill Realty), dated October 18, 2008. The lease was for a total of 375, not 11,044, square feet. The AAO dismissed the petitioner's appeal, finding that: (1) she did not demonstrate her funds were placed at risk or that IT Solutions and Services, LLC would meet the job creation requirements; (2) she did not demonstrate she had invested in a targeted employment area; and (3) she had sought to procure a benefit provided under the Act through the willful misrepresentation of a material fact.

II. MOTION TO REOPEN

A motion to reopen must state the new facts to be provided in the reopened proceeding and be supported by affidavits or other documentary evidence. 8 C.F.R. § 103.5(a)(2). In essence, a party requesting a reopening seeks a new hearing based on new evidence. See Matter of Cerna, 20 I&N Dec. 399, 403 (BIA 1991). The party seeking a reopening bears a heavy burden of demonstrating that if his or her motion to reopen were granted, the new evidence would change the outcome of the case. Matter of Chavez-Martinez, 24 I&N Dec. 272, 274 (BIA 2007) (citing INS v. Abudu, 485 U.S. 94, 110 (1988)). Motions to reopen an immigration proceeding are disfavored for the same reasons as are petitions for rehearing and motions for a new trial based on newly discovered evidence. INS v. Doherty, 502 U.S. 314, 323, (1992) (citing INS v. Abudu, 485 U.S. at 108). “There is a strong public interest in bringing litigation to a close as promptly as is consistent with the interest in giving the adversaries a fair opportunity to develop and present their respective cases.” INS v. Abudu, 485 at 107. Moreover, the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) “has some latitude in deciding when to reopen a case. [USCIS] should have the right to be restrictive. Granting such motions too freely will permit endless delay of deportation by aliens creative and fertile enough to continuously produce new and material facts sufficient to establish a prima facie case.” Id. at 108. The result also needlessly wastes the time and efforts of the triers of fact who must attend to the filing requests. Id.

On motion, the petitioner, through counsel, “accepts the determination that his 2009 EB-5 petition failed to establish his statutory eligibility.” Notwithstanding this concession, the petitioner, through counsel, states in the motion that he disagrees with the AAO’s finding that his funds were not placed at risk or that he did not invest in a targeted employment area. Neither the petitioner nor counsel has cited any legal or factual basis in support of the petitioner’s position that his investment was at risk. Counsel’s mere statement on motion that the AAO erred, without providing any legal or factual support, is insufficient to raise the matter before the AAO. See Desravines v. United States Att’y Gen., No. 08-14861, 343 F. App’x 433, 435 (11th Cir. 2009) (finding that issues not briefed on appeal by a pro se litigant are deemed abandoned); Tedder v. F.M.C. Corp., 590 F.2d 115, 117 (5th Cir. 1979) (deeming abandoned an issue raised in the statement of issues but not anywhere else in the brief). Accordingly, the AAO will not address the petitioner’s assertion that his funds were at risk despite an agreement that CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc. would bear 100 percent of any loss. The AAO will address the targeted employment area documents below.

On motion, the petitioner, through counsel, “denies the allegation of willful misrepresentation.” The petitioner has filed additional supporting evidence, and “[o]n the basis of the evidence submitted previously and now, the petitioner moves the AAO to rescind the order finding that [she] ‘sought to procure a benefit provided under the Act through the willful misrepresentation of a material fact.’” The AAO’s decision is reaffirmed for the following reasons.

First, the evidence the petitioner has filed on motion does not overcome the AAO’s April 17, 2012 finding that she made material misrepresentation through her submission of the June 15, 2009 sublease, which contains false information. Page 1 of the sublease provides that TC Ventures V, LLC “is the tenant of certain premises containing a total of eleven thousand forty-four (11,044) rentable square feet area (‘Leased Premises’), located [at] 406 Main Street, 4th floor, Johnstown, PA 21704 (the ‘Building’).” This statement is false. The October 18, 2008 lease agreement between Major Builders, Inc. and TC Ventures V, LLC, which the AAO attached to its July 22, 2011 NOID contradicts the sublease. Specifically, the 2008 lease agreement indicates that TC Ventures V, LLC leased 375 square feet, not 11,044 square feet, on the 4th floor at 406 Main Street in Johnstown, Pennsylvania.

On motion, the petitioner, through counsel, concedes that the “square footage of [TC Ventures V, LLC’s] leased premises was 375 sq. ft.³ [sic],” a portion of which TC Ventures V, LLC sublet to three separate businesses: IT Solutions and Services, LLC; Digital Tech Solutions, LLC; and New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC. Counsel asserts that “the sublease does not state that the petitioner is subleasing 11,044 square feet. Rather, it says, somewhat inartfully, that the sublessor is a tenant in a building that, in total, has 11,400 rentable square feet.” (Bold in original.) As discussed below, the evidence in the record, including documents filed on motion, does not support counsel’s reading of or assertions relating to the sublease. Without documentary evidence to support the claim, the assertions of counsel will not satisfy the petitioner’s burden of proof. The unsupported assertions of counsel do not constitute evidence. Matter of Obaigbena, 19 I&N Dec. 533, 534 n.2 (BIA 1988); Matter of Laureano, 19 I&N Dec. 1,3 n.2 (BIA 1983); Matter of Ramirez-Sanchez, 17 I&N Dec. 503, 506 (BIA 1980).

Initially, the petitioner submitted evidence showing that New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC, the new commercial enterprise, not the petitioner, was the sublessor under the June 15, 2009 sublease. Moreover, the plain language of the sublease contradicts counsel’s assertion on motion that the sublease stated that TC Ventures V, LLC was one of multiple tenants of a building that had a total of 11,044 square feet. Instead, the plain language of the sublease provides that TC Ventures V, LLC was “the tenant” of the “Leased Premises” that contained “a total of eleven thousand forty-four (11,044) rentable square feet area” located on the 4th floor of 406 Main Street in Johnstown, Pennsylvania. (Emphasis added.) Significantly, the false sublease makes no reference to TC Ventures V, LLC’s actual leased premises, which consisted of 375 square feet on the 4th floor of the building. The sublease provides that TC Ventures V, LLC has agreed to sublet a part of the leased property described in Exhibit A to New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC. The AAO noted in its July 22, 2011 NOID that the petitioner did not submit the Exhibit A to the sublease. In fact, as of the date of this decision, the petitioner has not submitted the Exhibit A, which purportedly specifies the actual subleased premises. Furthermore, the sublease indicates that New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC sublet from TC Ventures V, LLC a portion of the leased premises, which according to the 2008 lease agreement between Major Builders, Inc. and TC Ventures V, LLC, was located on the 4th floor of 406 Main Street. Other evidence of record, however, including New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC’s 2010 Transmittal of Wage and Tax Statements, Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Form W-3; 2009 U.S. Return of Partnership Income, IRS Form 1065; 2009 Partner’s Share of Income, Deductions, Credits, etc., IRS Schedule K-1 and 2009 Pennsylvania S Corporation/Partnership Information Return, indicates that New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC was located on the 2nd, rather than 4th, floor of the building. The petitioner has also submitted New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC’s Employer’s Quarterly Federal Tax Returns for the first through third quarters of 2010 indicating that it was located in Suite 200 of the building, and a business plan indicating that it was located on the 3rd floor of the building. The record, including documents filed on motion, lacks evidence showing that either TC Ventures V, LLC or New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC has ever leased the 2nd floor, Suite 200 or the 3rd floor of the building. As discussed in the AAO's April 17, 2012 decision, neither the June 5, 2009 addendum to the lease agreement, which at best constitutes TC Ventures V, LLC's nonbinding option to lease additional space at an undetermined future date, if it is available, nor any other evidence in the record establishes that TC Ventures V, LLC has expanded its initial lease agreement for 375 square feet on the 4th floor of the building.

In addition, as discussed in the AAO's April 17, 2012 decision, the petitioner's submission of the false sublease constitutes misrepresentation material to her visa petition eligibility. Specifically, the petitioner submitted the false sublease to demonstrate that she had invested or was actively in the process of investing in New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC and that New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC was in operation. On motion, the petitioner has not challenged the AAO's finding that the sublease is material to her eligibility.

Second, the petitioner has not submitted new evidence on motion that overcomes the AAO's April 17, 2012 finding that the petitioner made material misrepresentation. In support of the motion, the petitioner has filed a number of supporting documents, most of which predate the AAO's April 17, 2012 decision and/or they are documents the petitioner had previously submitted, including New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC's Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Returns, IRS Form 941s. The petitioner has not shown that these documents constitute new evidence. The remaining evidence – including an April 30, 2012 letter from the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry to Johnstown Area Regional Industries (JARI) relating to a targeted employment area, email correspondence between CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc. employees relating to hiring employees in Johnstown, photographs relating to air conditioning problems at 406 Main Street, and New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC's May 18, 2012 account list – postdates the AAO's decision, but is irrelevant to and does not overcome the AAO's finding that the petitioner submitted a sublease that falsely represented the size of the Johnstown space in support of her petition. Notably, Holly MacKenzie's April 22, 2009 email expressly describes the Johnstown space as 20' by 14' (280 square feet) with room for five desks. This email does not overcome the AAO's determination that the sublease falsely represented the space as 11,044 square feet.

Third, the documents submitted on motion provide inconsistent information relating to New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC's business location, especially during the period after New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC entered into the June 15, 2009 sublease but before the October 2, 2010 lease for premises at Pasquerilla Plaza. Specifically, on motion, the petitioner has submitted New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC's 2010 IRS W-3 that lists 406 Main Street, 2nd floor, Johnstown, Pennsylvania as its business address. According to its IRS Form 941s for the first through third quarters in 2010, New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC was located at 406 Main Street, Suite 200, in Johnstown, Pennsylvania. Moreover, according to the petitioner's motion and the July 11, 2011 amendment of the lease agreement, in July 2011, CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc. and New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC relocated from Suite 150 to Suite 120 at 1 Pasquerilla Plaza in Johnstown, Pennsylvania. The IRS Form 941 for the third quarter of 2011, which includes July 2011, however, shows that New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC remained in Suite 150A, not Suite 120. Furthermore, on motion, the petitioner has submitted New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC's bank statements for accounts ending in 0706 and 0396. The bank statements show New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC's address as 4539 Metropolitan Court, Suite 289, in Frederick, Maryland from June 2009 through November 2011, and 1 Pasquerilla Plaza, Suite 120A, in Johnstown, Pennsylvania from December 2011 through February 2012. The Metropolitan Court, Suite 289 address appears as the address of CaerVision Corp. on other documents in the record, including the October 2, 2010 lease. The bank statements do not corroborate the petitioner's claim that New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC was ever located at 406 Main Street, 2nd, 3rd, or 4th floor, or in Suite 200, or at 1 Pasquerilla Plaza, Suite 150, in Johnstown, Pennsylvania.

The petitioner's motion includes other inconsistent documents. For example, the October 2, 2010 lease agreement is between Pasquerilla Enterprises, L.P., and CaerVision Corporation. The subsequent July 11, 2011 amendment of the lease agreement is between Pasquerilla Enterprises, L.P., and CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc. Neither the petitioner nor counsel has provided an explanation as to why CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc. entered into an amendment of a lease agreement to which it was not a party. As the AAO noted in its April 17, 2012 decision, the record contains no evidence that CaerVision Corporation and CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc. are one and the same. In addition, the amendment of the lease agreement, dated July 11, 2011, provides that the effective date "shall be the date that is the earlier to occur of: (a) the date Lessor delivers possession of Suite 120 to Lessee, or (b) July 1, 2011." As such, according to this provision, the effective date of the amendment of the lease agreement would be July 1, 2011, at the latest. Yet, the amendment is dated July 11, 2011, after the effective date of the amendment.

With the initial submission, the petitioner did not disclose the number of I-526-related businesses operating out of the Main Street address and submitted a lease that falsely represented the amount of leased space. On motion, the petitioner submits a photograph of a sign for CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc. at the Pasquerilla Plaza location, which lists 10 affiliated companies, including the NCE and the other three joint ventures discussed above. The record does not resolve how many of these 10 affiliated companies are partially owned by Form I-526 petitioners. Regardless, this evidence does not resolve the AAO's finding of misrepresentation regarding the petitioner's truthful representation of the amount of space available to it in a shared location.

The petitioner has provided inconsistent documents on motion. "[I]t is incumbent upon the petitioner to resolve the inconsistencies by independent objective evidence. Attempts to explain or reconcile the conflicting accounts [or documents], absent competent objective evidence pointing to where the truth, in fact, lies, will not suffice." Matter of Ho, 19 I&N Dec. 582, 591-92 (BIA 1988). The petitioner has provided no such evidence to explain or reconcile the inconsistent documents. These inconsistent documents cannot overcome the AAO's finding that the petitioner submitted a document with false information, specifically the June 15, 2009 sublease.

Fourth, the evidence the petitioner submitted on motion does not establish, as counsel asserts, that the "petitioner's good faith intentions and actions [are] plain to see" or that the "petitioner and her joint venture partner have, at all times, acted in good faith." The April 30, 2012 letter from the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry states that in 2011, the Johnstown area of Cambria County, in an area of eleven contiguous census tracts, had an unemployment rate of 13.5 percent and thus constituted a targeted employment area. The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 204.6(e) states, in pertinent part, that a targeted employment area is one which, “at the time of investment” is an area that has experienced unemployment of at least 150 percent of the national average rate.¹ The petitioner filed the petition in October 2009 based on an investment in July 2009. As such, an April 2012 letter that discusses 2011 unemployment figures is insufficient to establish that “at the time of investment” the petitioner invested in a targeted employment area. See 8 C.F.R. §§ 204.6(e), (i).

Moreover, the email correspondence filed on motion makes no references to New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC, its efforts to hire employees or the leased space. At best, the email correspondences relate to CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc.’s hiring efforts and its leased space at 406 Main Street. Similarly, although counsel asserts that New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC first moved to Suite 150, then Suite 120 at 1 Pasquerilla Plaza in Johnstown, Pennsylvania in October 2010 and July 2011, respectively, the petitioner has submitted no lease or rental agreement showing that New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC is a renter, a lessor or a sublessor of either space. New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC is not a party to the October 2, 2010 lease agreement, or the July 11, 2011 amendment to the lease agreement. In addition, section 14 of the lease agreement provides that the lessee must obtain the lessor’s consent before subletting of the leased space. The petitioner has provided no evidence showing that CaerVision Corporation, the lessee, has obtained the lessor’s consent to sublet to New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC. As discussed above, the photograph of CaerVision Technology Centers, Inc.’s sign at the Pasquerilla Plaza location reveals a total of 10 affiliated companies without any explanation as to how the space is divided among them.

Furthermore, the documents the petitioner filed on motion do not substantiate counsel’s assertion that “[u]nlike a sham or [s]hell enterprise, [New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC] continues to develop and grow.” On motion, the petitioner has filed a May 18, 2012 spreadsheet, purported to be a list of New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC’s “122 customers.” New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC’s June 2009 through February 2012 bank statements for accounts ending in 0706 and 0396, however, do not show that New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC has ever received any payments from any of the alleged customers. Instead, the bank statements show that deposits into the accounts derived from “PayRoll Account,” “CaerVision Op[e]rating,” “CTCI CaerVision,” “ADP,” “Digital TechSolutino,” “DigitechSolution,” “IT SolutionServic,” “Phone/In-Person Transfer by Juliet Per Phone Call to LLS,” “Phone/In-Person Transfer by DLc,” “Phone/In-Person Transfer by LLS Per Jack Email-Payroll,” “Phone Request by Jack Zhang,” and New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC’s own accounts.² The petitioner has not shown that any of the deposits relate to any of the alleged customers listed on the May 18, 2012 spreadsheet. This evidence cannot overcome the AAO's concern in the April 17, 2012 notice that the bank statements in the record, which showed no payments from clients, were not consistent with the receipts for waiting room services that were marked "paid" and required payment directly to New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC.

¹ The AAO’s April 17, 2012 decision mistakenly cited 8 C.F.R. § 204.6(e) for the proposition that the area must be a targeted employment area at the time of filing. The proper citation is Matter of Soffici, 22 I&N Dec. 158, 159-60 (Assoc. Comm’r 1998).

² Although the bank statements show a June 24, 2010 deposit of $12,000 from “Atlantic Medical Op,” the same bank statement also shows a debit to “Atlantic Medical Op” on the same day for the same amount. The petitioner, thus, has not shown that the $12,000 deposit is a customer’s payment for New World Technologies and Innovations, LLC’s service.

In visa petition proceedings, it is the petitioner's burden to establish eligibility for the immigration benefit sought. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361; Matter of Otiende, 26 I&N Dec. 127, 128 (BIA 2013). Here, that burden has not been met. Accordingly, the previous decision of the AAO will be affirmed, and the petition will be denied with a finding of misrepresentation.

ORDER: The decision of the AAO dated April 17, 2012 is affirmed, and the petition remains denied with a finding of misrepresentation.
